John Kerr of Passburg President of Conservative As'n

Declares He Is Admirer of Premier Bennett Who Has Administered Affairs in Creditable Manner

Interest has awakened in the Liberal and Conservative camps, though no date is announced at this writing of the election.

The Conservatives of the Pass towns held a meeting in Blairmore on Friday evening, June 21, and appointed officers as follows:

Honorary president, Hon. R. B. Bennett, premier of Canada; honorary vice-president, Mr. Dugan, leader of the provincial Conservative party; president, John Kerr, Passburg; vice-presidents, Robert Gray, Blairmore; H. T. Hallwell, Coleman; H. A. McVicar, Hillcrest; W. Hampson,等等; R. E. Donkin, Frank, S. G. Banman was appointed secretary.

Mr. Kerr, as a former Conservative candidate in this district expressed the opinion that reorganization was necessary to draw together party adherents. He was a 100 per cent Conservative and ardent supporter of Premier Bennett, whom he considered had administered governmental affairs most creditably during the most trying times a government ever experienced.

Discussion as to the selection of a candidate by the meeting resulted in a resolution being passed unanimously that the Conservatives do not place a candidate in the field for Rocky Mountain.

In discussing the matter of supporting an independent candidate, no action was officially taken by the meeting. A number expressed their opinion that it was preferable to have a member of either of the major political parties as member, in order to secure the influence of party organization in contentious matters that may come before the legislature.

A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Cruckshank, the present member, who was elected by the combined support of Liberals and Conservatives as an independent in 1930.

Constable Antle has the cares of the whole town on his shoulders. Mayor away, Secretary Ford indisposed and therefore he has to be lord high executioner—and everything else.

The government accepts its responsibility and the challenge to organized society must be met. We ask all good citizens desirous of maintaining law and order to use their influence and power to that end." The Premier issued this statement at Ottawa on June 25, which was published in a Canadian Press despatch, in connection with the relief camp strike.

FERNIE GAVE COLEMAN FOURTH DEFEAT, 1-0

Coleman were given their fourth successive defeat on Sunday when Fernie, on their own ground, set them back 1-0. Individually Coleman players are as good as any in the league, but as a team they seem to miss fire. They have yet to register their first goal, having been beaten 1-0, 4-0 and 1-0 by opposing teams.

On the run at Fernie, Coleman were valued for a draw, but weakness around the goal spoiled any opportunities they were given. Playing with the advantage of a slight wind Coleman were complete masters of the first half and did everything but score.

During the closing minutes of the first half Fernie pressed and bottled Coleman around their goal. Frank Hughes of Fernie shot a beauty a minute before half time and owing to the number of players in front of Ford the latter's vision was obscured and the ball went sailing into the net to put Fernie up.

Fernie dominated the second half, but also missed many opportunities to score. The highlight of the second period was when Joyce received a pass from the outside right to put him out in the open in front of goal. He shot, but the Fernie goalie saved a certain goal and managed to clear, saving the only decent shot he received all evening. Final score 1-0 in favor of Fernie.

EDUCATING FOR CAREERS OR CHARACTER

Now that the schools have again finished their work for a season, the question is arising in many minds, "What have they done?" William McAndrew has said that education was encouraged from the beginning in this country to make good citizens, and yet we have more crookedness in high and low degrees than at any period in history. Muriel H. Defoe, writing in The Republican Tribune, Charlotte, North Carolina, says, "Education in this country seems to have failed. Do you know why? It is because we have forgotten to teach God and character in our schools. We have Latin and Greek and French and Science and Mathematics, but we have left out the most important things of all. Do we not tell you here in this state, that a man can get along and do well for himself and for the world if he has nothing more than God in his heart and character in his makeup."

Licenses for Peddlers Is Urged by Local Retail Merchants

Itinerant Traders and Door-to-Door Sellers Should Pay Licenses Is Claim

Injustice is suffered by enterprising business men who strive to give service twelve months of the year through lean years as well as good whereby any old peddler, beauty expert, seller of printing, hardware, clothes pegs or chewing gum vendor may come to town and carry on business without paying a cent towards the taxes.

Various merchants have complained, but no concrete action has been taken. One suggestion brought to The Journal's attention was that of a certain party using a private house to carry on his business, to the detriment of those who pay taxes and do their share towards keeping the town on the map. Those maintaining well-equipped business houses are entitled to protection against these chiselers on local trade, and it is high time the retail merchants insisted on measures being enforced whereby chiselers at least pay a license for doing business here. All the itinerant trader does is to sell the town for all the business he can get with as little expense as possible. Not even an announcement in the local paper, the purchase of a meal from a hotel or restaurant or a gallon of gas does he have if he can avoid it. He'll pitch his tent in a free automobile parking lot or any place where it doesn't cost anything, and then "chisel" unmercifully on the legitimate merchant.

It's time the licensing committee, if there is one, become active, and it's time that merchants should through their association do something to stop this.

MINUTES OF MEETING TO RE-ORGANIZE COLEMAN BOY SCOUTS ASSOCIATION

The meeting was called in St. Albin's parish hall, Coleman, by Rev. A. S. Partington, on June 15, 1935.

Present: Rev. A. S. Partington, chairman; Messrs. Gordon Bomber, Chisolm, Mrs. Arthur Jones, Miss Evelyn, Mrs. R. P. Borden, district commissioner; Girl Guides, Messrs. McIntosh, Rippon, John McDonald, H. C. McBurney, Constable Foster, R.C.M.P., Lewis Jones, W. McMullen, H. T. Hallwell.

Constable Foster outlined a plan of reorganization whereby a local committee would sponsor the activities of the local troop, and express his willingness to work on a program of activities for the boys. From his experience in supervising about 60 troops of Scouts in the United States, he found that an active committee behind the boys was a great help.

Officers appointed were as follows: A. S. McIntosh, president; John McDonald, vice-president; Mrs. Gordon, second vice-president; Reg. Jones, secretary; W. L. Rippon, treasurer; committee, all ladies present at the meeting.

Delegates to the Crow's Nest Pass district council were appointed: Mrs. A. R. Foster, H. C. McBurney, Mrs. Evelyn, Mrs. T. Hallwell as alternate. Rev. A. S. Partington was appointed honorary president.

Discussion on a summer camp indicated that the meeting was in favor of McMillan's Lake being the place, but decision was left till after the district meeting to find if a district camp would be held to embrace all Pass

DEATH OF TENNIS PLAYER

Tennis circles throughout Southern Alberta heard with regret the death of Ellie McMillan, who died on Monday evening at Glendale, Cal. Coleman will remember him as a player who gave one of the finest performances ever seen on local courts when he met Balloch in the finals two ago.

Four local players motored to Cranbrook last week to compete in the Cranbrook tournament and practically dominated it from start to finish. The players, Jenkins, Shone, Creegan and Roughedge, fought their way into the semi-finals and Jenkins defeated Creegan to meet Roughedge, who beat Shone in the finals. Jenkins was successful in defeating Roughedge to become singles champ of Cranbrook.

Jenkins and Shone were defeated in the finals of the men's doubles by Dr. Fergie and partner in straight sets.

Coleman club were the guests of the Fernie club on Sunday but the locals proved so strong that it was necessary to split the opposing teams in order to secure well contested games.

Look Ahead And Prepare

Conditions in Western Canada, considering the whole area of the prairie provinces, present a changed picture this year to that of several years past, and the change is almost entirely due to the Weatherman. With the exception of comparatively small tracts, the great grain producing areas of southern Saskatchewan which in recent years have suffered a lack of moisture have been favored with copious falls of rain, and Nature has thus largely solved a problem which all Governments and individuals, despite the expenditure of tens of millions of dollars, could barely cope with and certainly could not solve.

At the time of writing—which is ten days or so before this will appear in print—prospects are not only favorable for a normal, possibly an above normal, crop, but the big problem of feed and fodder for livestock seems solved as the soil is again saturated with moisture, sloughs and creeks filled with water, and grass again covers the ground. Admittedly it is too early yet to assume that present favorable conditions will not suffer some setbacks, and it would be a mistake to take too much for granted in a country where conditions change so quickly. At the moment, however, prospects are bright, and the foundation laid by May and June rains is such as to make a decided improvement almost a certainty.

Confidence in the country is being restored and hope is returning to many who had nearly abandoned hope and were on the verge of giving way to despair. Nature has thus provided an object lesson of how puny is man, notwithstanding his really marvelous achievements when it comes to what are, after all, the deciding factors in the prosperity of any people or country. Man may plan, and should plan within those spheres where the decision and the control rest in his own hands, but all his planning will fail if it is not in conformity with natural laws, and takes into account what we erroneously term the vagaries of Nature.

With the experience of the past four or five years of drought, dust storms, almost complete absence of feed and fodder, seed for a new season's sowing, and an absence of reserves accumulated in good years to tide over the poor years which always come sooner or later, what is going to be the attitude of people in this and, it is to be hoped, even expected, future better years? In those districts where there is now an abundance of moisture will the lessons of the past be remembered and steps proceeded with to conserve the surplus wherever possible and feasible? Or will people quickly forget and again live only in the present without taking thought for the future?

Western Canada is blessed with a bountiful crop, plenty of hay and grasses, large quantities of wild fruits, vegetables, etc., will people, profiting by the past, begin at once the building up of reserves against a future day when Nature may again be so generous in the bestowal of gifts? As Western people now look over their green and promising fields, are they planning, if the promise of those fields is fulfilled in the harvest, to conserve a little something, as much as they possibly can, as an insurance for the future? Or will they quickly forget and dispose of their last resource, trusting to the future to again take care of itself?

It is no particular criticism of any person, or class of persons in this country to say that, in many respects, we have been a wasteful people, and have not practiced that frugality which would have been the part of wisdom. Practically speaking, all of us have been more or less wasteful. We have employed our resources in satisfying the desires, the ambitions, the pleasures of the moment, without giving sufficient thought to the future. In above-normal prosperous years, instead of providing some reserve in a more or less liquid form to meet future needs, we have dissipated them, or locked them up in some concrete way, or used them to expand our operations beyond what was necessary or wise. Thus seeming assets have been found to be heavy liabilities.

All have made this mistake—farmers, merchants, industrialists, financiers, municipalities, provinces, and the Dominion as a whole. Nobody can well point an accusing finger at any other person. But if we are wise, if we are capable of learning anything from past experience, surely we will now as a people, individually and collectively, recognize our past mistakes and not merely resolve not to repeat them, but proceed now to follow a different course, and, like Joseph of old, in the years of plenty put by to carry us and our country through years of scarcity.

Some people in the last year or two became almost convinced that drought and dust storms and crop failures had become a permanent condition. Those of riper experience knew better. They knew that the world has always experienced periods of plenty and periods of scarcity; that this is one of Nature's ways of maintaining an equilibrium, a safe balance. There is reason to hope that the recent period of drought and scarcity has passed, and that a more fruitful period is at hand. But other periods of drought and crop failures will inevitably come; now is the time to prepare for them because surely no person who has suffered through lack of the necessities of life in this recent period desires to pass through the same experience again.

Now is the time to take new heart, but it is also a time to think and act coolly, to keep sane, to take thought of and prepare for the misfortunes or setbacks may lie ahead.

Strange Discovery

Huge Mound Of Black Substance Found In Northern Saskatchewan

A peculiar rock formation in the shape of a giant dome, which is considered to indicate the presence of either natural gas or oil, has been discovered in northern Saskatchewan, some 40 miles southwest of Lac la Crose.

It consists of a huge mound of some black substance resembling low grade coal or tar sands, from the centre of which bubbles a salt spring.

Hon. T. C. Davis, K.C., attorney-general, who recently returned from a geoplane trip over northern Saskatchewan to Lake Athabasca, brought some of the material back with him. He is making arrangements to have it analyzed.

Originally the discovery was made by the Indians, who reported this huge mound of black substance.

Several theories respecting the presence of the mound have been advanced. One is that the salt spring bubbling from the earth has brought with it a flow of oil which over a period of years has built up the mound about the spring similar to a deposit of geyserite.

The samples brought back by Mr. Davis do not appear to be inflammable, although there is a fibrous substance permeating the sample which burns.

The giant dome from which the spring bubbles is located near Vermilion lake in the vicinity of Lac la Plonge—Regina Leader.

A Marvel At Languages

Man At 81 Has Working Knowledge Of Five Hundred

A man after George Borrow's heart is George E. Hay who, at the age of 81, has retired from the position of proofreader for a London firm which specializes in foreign publications. Mr. Hay is said to have a working knowledge of about 500 languages, but he was chiefly engrossed in Oriental tongues and he corrected proofs in Sanskrit, Sindhi, Punjabi, Panjabi, Gujarati, Marathi, Urdu, Hindi, Bengali, Oriya, Tamil, Telugu, Kanarese, Malayalam, Sinhalese, Burmese, Siamese, Laos, Tibetan, Arabic, Coptic, Armenian, Ethiopic and Ancient Egyptian, also Chinese, Syrian, Greek and Hebrew.

As a boy he only had an elementary education, so that all these accomplishments were acquired by evening classes and by reading in museums and the London School of Oriental Languages. Primarily, he owed his success to a marvellous memory.

Even now that he has retired his recreation is studying languages.

And there are millions of people who have little more than a working knowledge of one language.

Matter Is Settled

Science Service Estimates Superior Is World's Largest Lake

A year or so ago the News Chronicle entered into a discussion of the comparative sizes of Lake Superior and Lake Victoria Nyanza in Africa. Someone, including some school teachers, advising their pupils, had declared the African lake to be larger.

Using all the information it could obtain from atlases and encyclopedias, this paper proved to its own satisfaction at least, that Superior was the larger and thus the largest lake in the world. This was definite if depth were considered, for it appears that large portion of Victoria Nyanza's surface is only a foot or so above the bottom and much of it is filled with reeds and grasses.

We now find the following paragraph among those issued by a science service for use in newspapers as something "interesting to know." "It is estimated that Lake Superior exceeds in size its nearest fresh water rival, Africa's Lake Victoria Nyanza, by a thousand square miles."—Port Arthur News Chronicle.

Speed Ball To Tear Tires Is Latest Invention

A policeman of Bolton, England, has just invented a "motor-handit stopper," which is expected to halt the worst of criminals. It is in the form of a speed ball, which, when thrown in front of a speed car, bursts open into several spiked arms covering a span of six feet and guaranteed to tear the toughest tires to shreds.

COULD NOT SEW A BUTTON ON

Her Hands Were Helpless With Rheumatism

At one time she thought she would lose the use of her right hand, But "blessing" came to her right again.

"I was sure in my mind that she writes. "In fact I could not do my housework. I was so bad with rheumatism in my arms and hands, I could not sleep at nights, and I thought I would lose the use of my right hand. I could not hold my pen, nor could I sew a button on my coat. I used to try knitting, and inside of three months I found myself a change. I kept on taking it, and now I sleep all night—thank to Kruschen."

Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salve are camphor and resorcinic acid crystals, which are of rheumatic agency. Other ingredients of these salts assist Nature to expel these dissolved crystals through the natural channel.

Germans Challenge Record

Bremen and Europa Will Make Attempts With Reserve Power

According to hints from German shipping quarters, the North German Lloyd liners Bremen and Europa will take up the battle for the "blue ribbon" of the Atlantic, which has been won by the French liner Normandie.

Open expression of this determination was given by the Boeren Zeitung in a dispatch from Hamburg: "It is not unlikely," the dispatch said, "that the Rex (Italian liner) or Bremen or Europa will still some horsepower in reserve with which they may give the Normandie a surprise."

That the two German vessels have never used their top speed in their regular runs and have been holding back for just such competition as the Normandie or the Cunard-White Star Queen Mary is a story that always has been believed in Germany—with what justification remains to be seen.

Animals Like To Play

Even Clumsy Polar Bears Are Great Fun Makers

Almost any time is play time with monkeys. Give a monkey a musical instrument and he will play for hours.

Another monkey delight is to dress up and act like a human. One keeper at the London Zoo trained four young chimpanzees so well that they will take a meal at a table from tin plates and mugs, and pass everything round as politely as can be.

The polar bears are also great fun-makers. The crew of a whaling ship once watched two bears playing on an ice floe. The main idea in their game was to push and scramble about at the edge of the ice until one was pushed into the water.

Immediately the other bear would jump in beside him, and there would be another tussle until one was forced back on to the ice. The winner would then scramble out, and the game would start over again.

Queen Likes Natural Folks

Not Reserved If People Chat With Her Freely

In the Jubilee number of The Manchester Guardian a contributor writes about Queen Mary this way:

The Queen's mind is powerful rather than quick. She once said to a friend, "I find it a great effort to think of something fresh to say to everyone I meet." The friend replied, "Oh, your Majesty should not try. If I were in your place I should think of something nice to say when I got out of bed and say it to everyone I met that day." But the Queen replied, "Oh no, you would not. The press would get hold of it and say that you were insincere." Whether else anyone said of the Queen it would be impossible to call her insincere.

At a first meeting people often leave all the conversation to her Majesty and so find her difficult to get on with and think her reserved. A very slight acquaintance, however, helps them to realize her extraordinary kindness of heart and the way in which she never forgets anyone she has ever met or misses a chance to do a kindness. If she has been interested in any case of suffering or want, and meets the person who brought it to her notice again, it may be 20 years after, she will at once say, "And how is So-and-so?" I hope everything is going on well."

In fact, anyone who will chat freely with the Queen as he would with any other lady, relying on her kindness and sympathy, will find her at once easy to get on with and charming. Her wide knowledge of the subjects that do interest her, her readiness to say when she is not an authority on any subject, her ready humor and her sincere kindness make a conversation with her a thing to remember. Her chief interest in life now is undoubtedly the little Princess Elizabeth. She is wrapped up in her, and no wonder; for a more charming little girl or one more completely unsplashed by her high position, it would be impossible to meet.

Charged With Writing Anti-Italian Articles

Italy Has Expelled Rome Correspondent Of Chicago Tribune

The Italian government press bureau has expelled David Darrah, the Rome correspondent of the Chicago Tribune. Darrah and his wife were forced to leave immediately. The reason for Darrah's expulsion was given as the writing of anti-Italian articles.

The Bureau also issued an order banning until further notice the entrance of copies of the New York Times to Italy as a result of an editorial entitled "Baldwin and Mussolini."

The editorial appeared in the Times after recent speeches of Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin of Great Britain and Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy.

The action against the New York newspaper follows a similar one against a group of English newspapers, including the Manchester Guardian, and the lifting of a ban against German newspapers, including the Nazi organ, the Voelkischer Beobachter.

Makes Testing Safer

Spinning Device Determines Whether Auto Wheels Need Adjusting

Eliminating hazardous road tests for "shimmy" and wobble, a dynamic spinning device subjects each wheel to a similar test without removing the car from the repair shop.

The machine consists of a motor mounted on the shaft of an electric motor and carried on a small rubber-tired dolly. The speed of the motor is controlled from the end of a tubular handle like a vacuum cleaner. The spinner wheel rocks from side to side for adjustment to the plane of the cambered auto wheel so that the tire will not be damaged.

The test is made with the wheel on the spindle, each wheel being jacked up and spun with the machine. The motor quickly accelerates the wheel to eighty or 100 miles an hour. When the shimmy speed is reached the whole car shakes violently, indicating the wheel is out of balance and that it should be removed and trued up.—Popular Mechanics.

Campaign Started To Deport Six Million Aliens From U. S.

Washington.—A campaign for legislation to deport about 6,000,000 aliens from the United States as a partial solution to the unemployment problem was pressed Sunday by 155 organizations, estimated by Representative Dies to represent 5,000,000 people.

Plans to organize 100,000 native born and naturalized citizens for a drive to get congressional action on the Dies deportation bill were reported by the Texas Democrat as he thumbtacked 50,000 letters and telegrams received in support of the measure.

The organization was to be called "The Americans," and would be formed in each state on a non-partisan and non-partisan basis, he said.

"At least 150 congressmen have pledged themselves in favor of the bill, which provides that no alien can hold a job in this country that can be filled by a citizen," Mr. Dies declared.

Saying his bill, pending before the house immigration committee, was on a "reciprocal basis," Mr. Dies explained that "we could let as many French aliens work in this country as France lets American citizens work in France."

Decrease In Fire Losses

Since 1934 Amount Has Decreased By Twenty Millions

Ottawa.—Fire losses in Canada in 1934 decreased by more than $20,000,000 as compared with 1933, George F. Lewis, O.B.E., Toronto, president of the Association of Canadian Fire Marshals, revealed in opening the annual conference of the association here. While fire losses as a whole had decreased in number and amount, it was disturbing to note, Mr. Lewis said, that in dwellings have increased from 16,943 with a loss of $1,000,000 in 1932 to $2,436 with a loss of $9,957,000 in 1934.

Reason Given For Opposing Change In C.N. Capital Structure

Ottawa.—Opposition to any change in the capital structure of the Canadian National Railways, while litigation was in progress before the privy council on behalf of the Grand Trunk shareholders, was emphasized by Premier R. B. Bennett in a statement in the house.

He also took the view the reports of the Canadian National should show always the investment the Canadian people had in the enterprise.

The appeal before the privy council would probably be heard next month in London, the prime minister explained. Leave to appeal was granted last March.

The statement was the result of a question by Ross W. Gray (Lib., Lambton West) following a hearing some time ago before the house railway committee. At that hearing C. P. Fullerton, president of the Cana-

Would Unite Dionne Family

Ontario Government Outlines Plan For This Purpose

Toronto.—Chief guardian of the Dionne quintuplets, Hon. David A. Croall, Ontario minister of welfare, disclosed that when he attended the babies' birthday celebration in Calander, May 28, he outlined to Oliva Dionne, their father, the government's plan to reunite the Dionne family in one large home.

"I invited Mr. Croall to ponder the plan for a few days, then came to Toronto," said Mr. Croall. "I have not since seen Mr. Dionne."

"I want to see the Dionne family reunited and hereby ask your permission to erect for you, out of the fund accumulated, a house sufficient for yourselves and your whole family in which the quints may be comfortably accommodated," said Mr. Croall in the letter he wrote Oliva Dionne, June 5.

"The present hospital may then be used as a schoolhouse for all your children," he continued.

The offer carried only two conditions—government control of business affairs of the children and retention of Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe as the babies' physician.

Six-Man Jury

Amendment To Criminal Code To Apply To Manitoba And Saskatchewan

Ottawa.—An amendment to the criminal code providing for six-man juries in criminal cases in the provinces of Saskatchewan and Manitoba was passed in the House of Commons.

As first introduced this provision related to the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta. Hon. Hugh Guthrie, minister of justice, explained when the attorney-general of Alberta had moved the provision to be dropped as to the province and the attorney-general of Manitoba had asked Manitoba be brought under the six-man jury rule. Alberta had a six-man jury system already in force. Accordingly Manitoba was substituted for Alberta in the bill.

Loan Oversubscribed

Ontario Bond Issue Goes Over The Top

Toronto.—Because Ontario's $20,000,000 bond issue has been oversubscribed the government has decided to close the subscription lists, according to a statement issued over the signature of Premier Mitchell Hepburn.

While the loan was oversubscribed to the extent of several millions, applications above the $20,000,000 mark will not be received.

Change Was Approved

Ottawa.—The House of Commons took less than two minutes to give second and third readings and consideration in committee stage of a technical change in the delinquency laws. The bill originated in the senate and was requested by children aid societies. A bill making a companion change in the criminal code also was passed.

With regard to carrots the valuation is fixed at an advance of 2½ cents a pound above the true invoice value, and two cents a pound for beets.

At the same time the minister announced imposition of a regional tariff applicable to Manitoba, and Western Canada, on cauliflower, cabbage and green peas. This will operate in a similar manner. The advance above the true invoice value of cauliflower will be four cents a pound; of cabbage, 2½ cents, and green peas 2½ cents a pound.

Suggests New Commission

President Of Canadian Radio League Presents His Views

Canton, N.Y.—Graham Spry, president of the Canadian Radio League, told the conference on Canadian-American relations the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission has failed and suggested a 15-point constitution for a new broadcasting system in the Dominion.

Mr. Spry proposed appointment of a 12-member commission by the Dominion government in consultation with the leader of the opposition and representatives of smaller groups. Three members, he said, should represent the National government and nine the provinces.

The commissioners, he said, "should not be active members of any political party, but should include men or women sympathetic toward or generally representative of the broad principles of the three political groups."

Mr. Spry said all political parties should be given use of the national network without charge at various times during the year, and that during election campaigns, national, provincial or local, they should be offered similar free time, having the option to buy additional time if they wish."

Eight-Hour Day

Railways Given Nine Months To Comply With New Law

Ottawa.—Canadian railways were given nine months in which to prepare agreements with their employees to institute a general eight-hour day in conformity with the Dominion's new law.

The House of Commons passed senate amendments to the eight-hour-day bill which were technical in nature except one. Under it, the act will have general application three months after royal assent but railway companies will be given an extra six months because of the difficulty of negotiating agreements with all their union men.

Charge Discrimination

Denial Is Made That Canada Is Unfair To U.S. Trade

Canton, N.Y.—A spirited reply to an American charge of tariff discrimination was given at the conference on Canadian-American affairs by John W. Dafoe, editor-in-chief of the Winnipeg Free Press, and two Canadian educationists—Professor Frank A. Knox, of Queen's University, and Professor Robert McQueen, of the University of Saskatchewan.

Dr. Dafoe said the charge of Prof. Jacob Viner, of Chicago, that Canada, with its three-tariff system, was discriminating against the United States, had not been proved.

"Under our system of mixed, intermediate and empire tariff schedules," he said, "we go to other nations and offer them the intermediate rate on their goods in exchange for a preferred consideration of our wheat. The Americans with a single tariff, argue we have been unfair because we have three tariffs, and the United States is not favored by our intermediate tariff. It is our contention, however, concession should be given for concession," which has not been done under the inflexible single tariff system.

Dr. Dafoe said "he believed the difficulties between the two countries could be composed if the United States did not have a single tariff system but had variable tariffs."

Trotzky Again Disappears

Entire Party Drops Out Of Sight In Norway

Oslo, Norway.—Leon Trotzky, famed Russian exile, staged another mysterious disappearance here, dropping out of sight shortly after he arrived from Antwerp.

Trotzky, his wife and two secretaries went from Oslo to Hoenfoss, town of 3,000 population, where they were expected to spend six months. The entire party disappeared, however, and efforts to locate it were unavailing.

London.—The Daily Herald said Leon Trotzky, Russian exile who ended Norway is "ridden with advanced tuberculosis," and his journey to the north was "a matter of life and death."

Senate Rejects Bill

Nationals Will Not Have To Publish Shareholders' Names

Ottawa.—Marking its seventh failure in 10 years, the bill of T. L. Church (Cons., Toronto East) to compel newspapers to publish names of their shareholders was thrown out by the Senate. With Senator James Murdoch (Lib., Parkdale) sole disenter, the upper house adopted the report of its banking and commerce committee rejecting the measure as "ineffective to attain its purpose."

Ask Conference To Study Methods For Amending B.N.A. Act

Ottawa.—A Dominion-provincial conference to be held as early as possible this year to study methods of amending the British North America Act was recommended in a house committee report tabled in the commons. The report was presented by F. W. Turnbull (Cons., Regina), chairman of the committee.

"The committee recognized the urgent necessity for prompt consideration of amendments to the British North America Act with reference to a redistribution of legislative power and to clarify the field of taxation," the report declared.

The committee sent telegrams to the attorneys-general of the nine provinces asking them to make submissions on the "best method by which the British North America Act may be amended so that while safeguarding existing rights of racial and religious minorities and legitimate provincial claims to autonomy, the Dominion government may be given adequate power to deal effectively with urgent economic problems which are essentially national in scope."

The provinces declined to make submissions, several taking the view it was only by a conference that progress could be made. Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, Quebec, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia took this position. New Brunswick promised to submit its views but has not yet done so. Ontario decided to make submissions at the present time.

"The committee recognizes," the report declared, "that there is a divergence of opinion with respect to the question of whether, or not, the British North America Act is a statutory recognition of compact among the four original provinces of the Dominion and as to the necessity or otherwise of provincial conventions in amendments.

"Without expressing any opinion upon that question, the committee feels that in the present case and at the present time it is advisable in the interest of harmony and unity that there should be consultation with the provinces with respect to the adoption of a definite mode of amendment or the enactment of amending legislation which might seriously alter the legislative jurisdiction of the provinces and the Dominion."

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Party government, Liberal and Conservative, has been a stabilizing force throughout the past six years, particularly when unprecedented conditions have developed as a result of the financial collapse. Despite what all other factors may rant about, the party system of government has held as a sheet anchor to stay the destroying and weakening influences of advocates of pet theories who lack experience in those things which they try to teach to susceptible people.

The morale of the people has been weakened, not so much by the trials they have undergone, for people with grit in their makeup will overcome many trying situations, but by the continual harping of men who, instead of helping the people who are honestly trying to help themselves, thrust more burdens on their backs by making promises which can never be kept and inciting men to demand more and more from the government, the total cost of which finally rests on the taxpayers.

Too much mawkiness, inciting people to rebel, telling them that a new era is at hand if they support this and that, instead of telling people that they themselves as individuals must work out their salvation, has tended to weaken the moral fibre of those not possessed of a sense of discrimination between the true and the false.

So many will follow a bell sheep through a hole in the fence, to find how neatly they have been trapped. It goes on every day, under the guise of evangelism and other isms.

Most people will recall the evangelist's tent pitched to accommodate a large crowd, for the evangelist must have crowds to stir up enthusiasm. Men who for 20 years or more have never dared enter a church door will succumb to the importunings of a forceful evangelist, but after he has struck his tent and is seeking newer crowds in other fields, the converted ones will flock back just as rapidly as they became converted. While the spell is on them they are "saved," so it is with political hypnotism, if it might be termed that lack of another name. There is much of it abroad, and only the steady influence of men who maintain the ideals of responsible government saves the whole darned country from going "nowhere."

The country is in too hysterical a condition to vote intelligently at the present time. If the provincial government, or the Federal government deferred the elections, the country would at least be safer than it would be if some of those now bidding for power should be elected.

"Work without enthusiasm for it is zestless and only he who is gripped by the thrill and enthusiasm of his labors knows the imperishable satisfaction of work well done."

Cranbrook Courier: Last Sunday was Father's Day, but somehow it seems difficult to evoke much enthusiasm over it. Father, it would appear, is only a sort of necessary adjunct to the scheme of things. He beats and sputters a lot, but it's mother who is the real Rock of Gibraltar.—F. J. S.

Premier Bennett's request for Canadians to use their influence against the Communist-led strike of relief camp workers will be heeded by law-abiding citizens who see in the present law-defying movement a danger to constituted authority. If men persist in being led by agitators, they must take the consequences, for loyal citizens will not tolerate being dictated to by the type of men who have incited this movement or tie to Ottawa.

Experience of such leadership in our own district has shown how disastrous it becomes for the workers and the criminal record of this man Evans who acted as spokesman at Ottawa, is sufficient to damn his cause. Canada has cared for its unemployed in a liberal a manner as possible, despite what irresponsible may say about slave camps. To talk of men's morale being destroyed by being in these camps is just talk. If a man's morale is destroyed because of being a relief camp worker, then he hasn't much morale to begin with. People sympathize with men who through conditions are thrown out of employment, an experience none of us are exempt from in our lives, but if a man loses his own morale and nerve then it's just too bad for him. There are men who have risen to prominent positions in the business and professional world who have worked hard with their hands at common labor, harder than any relief camp worker is called on to work. They have shovelled gravel and packed lumber from freight cars, mixed mortar and done other laboring work till they stepped up to something better. They didn't strike; they worked.

There is no compromise with the Communist. He has to be met by force when he tries to upset the government. Premier Bennett's attitude is the only effective way to treat with agitators, otherwise the country would be plunged into chaos.

Another thing—there are newspapers and politicians opposed to Mr. Bennett who criticize him for allowing the strikers to get as far as Regina, yet condemn any effort made to stop the trek by force. Had the trek been stopped, as it could easily have been by the co-operation of provincial governments of British Columbia and Alberta, it would not have assumed such serious proportions. There has been altogether too much unjust criticism of the Federal government, sloppy sentimentality about college graduates in relief camps and encouragement of the strikers by unshamed people which has led them to believe they are heroes instead of unfortunate out-of-workers. The government has exacted all the help it is possible for the taxpayers to bear, but if a man will not work, or listens to agitators, he deserves no further help or sympathy.

SELF-ATTACHED SINKING DEVICES

The gangsters who made another stick his feet into a tub of moist concrete and then watch it while it hardened before they threw him into the ocean are supposed to have invented the quintessence of torture and the last word in curse-sinking devices. Many a youth has weighted himself down with baseness, ignorance and bad habits which have tortured before they sunk him later in life.

GET RID OF MISFITS

Victoria Colonist: For obvious reasons trustees are now in a position to pick and choose and to refuse to consider the applications of candidates who are deficient in scholarship or experience, or both. The time for teaching politics is now, more than ever, to the strong and efficient. The present is not the time to burden the taxpayers with additional educational services. It is, however, a good opportunity to stiffen up the requirements for teachers' certificates and so reduce the number of misfits in the system as it exists.

TRUE ENOUGH, BROTHER!

(F. J. S. in the Cranbrook Courier) Professional singers, instrumentalists and entertainers are often inveigled into attending house parties and public functions under the guise of being guests. But the way Will Rogers got back upon one occasion is worth recounting: It appears a wealthy and scheming hostess invited Will to her party, and there he was pressed into doing most of the entertaining. He told funny stories and put over his usual line of patter, much like he would on a vaudeville stage where he was well paid. Later he sent a bill to the hostess for $1,000. Then the indignant woman called him up. "Why, you were a guest!" she expostulated. Will's retort is classic: "I've never had a guest unless my wife is invited!"

Every worth-while merchant and businessman will see that his ad. appears in his home town weekly newspaper. It is an indication of enterprise and loyalty to his home community.

Dear Sirs—

Four weeks ago we purchased a Canadian utility truck and began operating on a bus line between Athabasca and the city of Edmonton.

The road in wet weather is a heavy mud and in dry weather extremely rough, so that the operating conditions are not by any means ideal.

Our Chevrolet gives us little trouble except in ordinary service work . . . Since then we have secured three other bus routes in Alberta and in each case Chevrolets were placed in operation.

Our experience with Chevrolet therefore has been more than satisfactory.

Yours very truly,

You can safely take "the owner's word" for it—when it's a question of the right truck to buy for performance, appearance, freedom from repairs, long life and economy.

Chevrolet and Maple Leaf Trucks offer a complete line of models, $\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 tons . . . General Motors Trailer equipment includes a Line of Holders, Trailers, 8-ton range . . . Flathead Trading Co. Store Robbed Sunday

Though having only been open for a week in the Milley store on Main street east, burglars on Saturday or Sunday night broke in through a back window and stole at least over $100 worth of goods. No clue has so far been obtained, Fred Winter, manager of the company, informed The Journal.

The robbery was discovered when Ken, one of the clerks, opened the store on Monday. After breaking in the burglars had opened a rear door facing the lane and carried out the goods. The door was left swinging wide open by the robbers.

It is reported that a store safe at Cowley was blown open during the weekend.

Three men were held over for investigation but were released after satisfying the police.

BEWARE OF "CHISELLERS"

The Journal believes in boosting for its home retailers who honestly strive to give honest values and prompt service. Often "chiseilers" come along and without paying a license horn in and sell from door to door or by other means chisel on established retailers. The local merchants are solicited for donations and subscriptions. The transient gives nothing in the way of taxes, dodges paying a license if he is slick enough and in some cases will park a car on some vacant space and live there while the pickings are easy. Readers are advised to purchase from those merchants whose advertisements they read in The Journal, for they are usually the progressive business men who are always ready to help others. They are usually loyal to their own community.

Einstein's Formula

Professor Einstein's secretary received many letters, addressed to the professor, asking the meaning of "relativity". As these inquiries showed no signs of decreasing, she appealed to Mr. Einstein. He told her to answer as follows:

"When you sit with a nice girl for two hours you think it's only a minute, but when you sit on a hot stove for a minute you think it's two hours. That's relativity."

Professor Einstein was once asked what he thought the best formula for success in life. "If A is success in life, I should say the formula is $A = X + Y + Z$, X being work and Y being play."

"And what," was asked, "is Z?"

"That," he answered, is keeping your mouth shut."—Christian Science Monitor.

Look carefully at Pontiac's list of features. You can't duplicate them in any other low-priced car! See the Six and the Straight Eight. Drive them. This personal experience will soon explain for you why there are so many new Pontiacs on the road.

Circus Man's Remains Sent Home

Jesse Wardlow, Killed by Elephant When Show Was Here

Body Shipped Friday

Another Elephant With Same Show Killed Man at Winter Quarters Two Weeks Ago

(From Cranbrook Courier)

The body of Jesse Wardlow, killed by a fractious elephant while the Al. G. Barnes circus was here last week, was shipped Friday morning to Denver, Colorado, where a sister of the deceased resides. All arrangements for the preparing and shipping of the body were handled by a Mr. Culp, legal adjuster with the show. All expenses were paid at this end by the circus management, presumably out of a fund maintained for such emergencies. There was no haggling over costs and the matter was handled with the same smoothness that characterized the conducting of the show.

Vance, the elephant that did the killing, was one of the largest in the herd, and is said to weigh close to six tons. Different stories are in circulation as to how the fatality happened. One is that this particular "bully man" as the elephant is known, was abusing the animal and that the monstrous pachyderm turned on him, knocking him down and stepping on his head. During the afternoon and evening shows Vance was noticed chained at a distance from the rest of the herd. He appeared surly, and was swaying his huge body and swinging his massive head and trunk like the pendulum of a clock.

Second Man Killed

Wardlow is the second man killed by an Al. G. Barnes circus elephant this spring. Down at Baldwin park, near Los Angeles, the winter quarters for the organization, Joe Reed, a trainer, was killed by an elephant named Prince a few weeks ago. Although the coroner's jury did not recommend death for Prince, the animal is being kept chained to the floor in his shed until the owners decide what shall be done with him. No one goes near him except to take him food and water. He merely stands weaving to and fro, shaking his massive head, Prince gored Reed to death in the exercise ring.

Some of the elephants that were in Cranbrook with the then Sells-Floot show back in the summer of 1926, when a part of the herd stampeded, were here again this year but apparently none of those that made their escape at the time. Tillie, one of those that went on the rampage, was here last year, but this season was left at headquarters, and "Cranbrook Ed," the little trick elephant is down in Florida.

Several elephants and other animals are kept at home at the circus winter quarters at Baldwin park throughout the year, for use by the moving picture studios at Hollywood and are often pressed into service in film production work.

A son and heir, Thomas Alan, weight 8 lbs. 6 ozs., was born to Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Parry at the Grace Hospital, Calgary, on June 19 last. Mr. Parry is a former Coleman boy, having passed through its public and high schools before attending the University of Alberta at Edmonton. He is now a member of the staff of Calgary technical high school. Mrs. Parry, formerly Fern Pearson, lived in Edmonton for several years, and later in Windsor.

TYPEWRITER PAPER: 500 sheets 8½x11, fine quality white bond, a splendid general purpose paper, for $1.15, or 100 sheets for 25¢—Journal Office.

ADVERTISEMENTS of Leading Merchants will be found in this paper.

The accompanying chart shows how the price of gasoline to the retailer has decreased and the gasoline tax has increased since 1924. The data for this graph are based on figures published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

FALLING PRICES—RISING TAXES

In 1924 the average price to the retailer of all gasoline sold in Canada was 26.6 cents per Imperial gallon. Since 1924 the price has fallen almost continuously and for 1933 and 1934 it stood at 18.8 cents—nearly eight cents less than in 1924.

"But," you say, "gasoline does not cost me eight cents less a gallon than ten years ago."

You are right, and this is why: In 1924 the gasoline tax was new in Canada and the total gasoline tax collected in that year amounted to an average of only a little more than ¼ cent for each gallon consumed. But as the price of gasoline fell the tax on gasoline rose to higher and higher levels until in 1933 it amounted to nearly ¾ cents for each gallon consumed in Canada.

When you buy a gallon of Imperial gasoline you also pay other taxes totalling about 8/10 of one cent. The profit which Imperial Oil earned on each gallon of gasoline that it made and sold during 1934 was just over 5/10 of one cent per Imperial gallon.

Angelo Gentle, blossoming forth as the new Tex Rickard of the Pass, has lined up one of the most promising fight cards which Pass fans will have the pleasure of witnessing for some time. Part of the proceeds of the fight will aid Coleman baseball club.

The feature bout will be between Coleman and Gatzke of Bla-pot, ask. Henry is well known in the Pass, having fought twice in Blairmore against Mavinkine and winning both encounters by decision. Jones is a boxer who can both take it and hand it out, and is at his best when the going gets tough, as was seen in his Blairmore bouts. Gatzke is noted more for his fighting ability than for his boxing ability and is said to be the most vicious fighter to step into a Pass ring. He drew with Blochlinger of Edmonton recently, and has been showing plenty of class in his bouts on the coast, having fought in Vancouver, Spokane and Seattle.

The semi-windup will see two 175-lb. light heavyweights, in the persons of Chela and Beggan, both of Blairmore, try to knock each other cold while the preliminaries between Celi and Porenski prove interesting.

THANKS FOR THOSE KIND WORDS*

Several have complimented The Journal on its splash of red occasionally on the front page, and the improved appearance of the printed page. We appreciate these kind words, and only wish there was more business to make still further improvements. A weekly newspaper gives a lot of gratuitous service through its news columns, though some seem to think newspaper life is "all gravy." However, being susceptible to a little praise, we thank our good wishers. We trust they will continue to boom The Journal, the paper which represents Coleman in the great outside world and carries its message to the four points of the compass.

Anything given free is lightly regarded. Posters, circulars and house-to-house delivery sheets are not valued. Handbills and circulars strewn over post-offices floors and in the streets prove it. A government bill empowering the finance minister to float loans to a maximum of $750,000,000 was passed by the House of Commons. It was expected the government would enter the money market on a refunding program when it was favorable this fall.

A drop of more than $3,000,000 was shown in the total deposits of the Bank of Canada during the week ended June 12, according to the Bank of Canada statement recently issued. The reserve in United States funds for the same period declined by more than $2,225,000.

One Way To Save Money

Cash Register Drawer Sticks And Reveals $291 Deposit

Lawson McTaggart, general merchant of Viceroy Sack, is richer by $291. He has been putting small change into a savings bank but didn't know it.

The drawer on the cash register in his store had been balky for several weeks. It hadn't closed as it should when it was pushed shut. A short time ago a Regine Traveler dropped in and offered to repair the machine. The traveler finally got the drawer open and 500 or more dimes tinkled to the floor. Further investigation revealed the register was so bunged with silver the drawer couldn't close. Several customers in the store helped him gather it up. When counted it totalled $291, mostly dimes, some nickels and a dollar bill, weighing 14 pounds in all.

The silver had slipped through a crack in the back of the till. The storekeeper had often found dimes and nickels and dollar bills but didn't know the till was "teking." The silver had accumulated over the past ten years.

First Camp Fire Word

Scientists Discover Primitive Chinese Chesh Redbud Tree

When Peking Man, earliest known human of China, chopped wood for his campfire 100,000 years ago, he chose a red bud or Judas-tree, according to botanists of the Geological Society of China, after training microscopes on remains of the "oldest known fire laid by human hands."

Cross-sections of bits of charred wood from Peking Man's hearth arc identified by their structure as a new species of Cerasi. That tree would be a red bud, akin to modern redbuds that flower with purple-red blossoms in the spring in America and the Orient.

Under New Grading System

During the first five months of this year almost 30,000 pigs were sold in Canada under the new rail grading system whereby the farmer is paid for his hogs after they have been hung on the packing house rail. Around 35 per cent. of these hogs made grade "A," and 45 per cent. grade "B," with "C," "D," "E" lights, heavies, and sows making up the rest in varying small amounts.

Lobster Production

Canada Provides Nearly The Whole Of The World's Supply Of The Canned Product

Off the coast of Canada's Atlantic provinces the world's greatest lobster-producing area is located, and every year more than 300 canneries draw from these resources the raw material from which they produce one of the tastiest of sea foods. In recent years an increasing part of the Canadian catch has been marketed alive—"shipped in the shell" is another way of saying it—but most of it, however, still goes into cans. In the past five years the total annual pack put up in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, and Quebec, has averaged, in round figures, 137,900 cans containing 48 standard-sized cans each.

Lobster canning involves a number of different operations, and Canadian lobster canneries are required by law to measure up to certain standards as to sanitation, equipment, and methods. Their operations are subject to inspection under the Meat and Canned Foods Act, which is one of the reasons they turn out so excellent a product. Canada supplies all but a very small part of the world's production of canned lobsters.

World Needs Peace Assurance

President Roosevelt Says Mutual Understanding And Regard Is Needed

Greatest current need of the world is "the assurance of peace—an assurance based on mutual understanding and mutual regard," President Roosevelt asserted before the graduating class of the United States military academy. "We maintain an army to promote tranquility," the president said, "and to secure us from aggression, but it is so created and so modest in proportion as to furnish no threat or menace to the rights of others is even remotely intended."

Engagement Was Kept

Speaker Unable To Attend Meeting Sent Talking Film

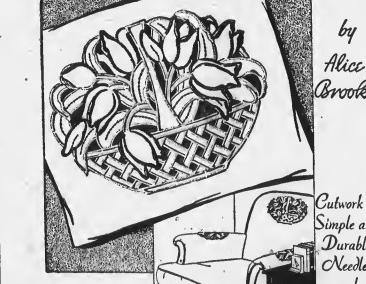

Finding at almost the last minute that pressure in the House of Commons would keep him from making a political speech in Rugby, England, Captain David Margesson, the Government Chief Whip, sent a talking picture substitute. He hurried to a film studio, delivered the speech and rushed the film to Rugby. It was the first time in England that a "talkie" kept a public engagement for the principal speaker at a political meeting.

Our Social Duty

There is something wrong when crime takes place in frequented streets and eye-witnesses have nothing to tell about it. It is a natural impulse to avoid being "mixed up" in a sordid case, but it is none the less a social duty to support the law by assisting the police in every possible way. For we are all "mixed up" in the fate of ordered society, which requires every man's protection on every necessary occasion.

Airplane pilots for private planes in England now receive salaries ranging from $5,000 to $7,500 a year. Canadian exports to Italy last fiscal year had a value of $3,630,650.

This design has no bows—and plenty of opportunity for color. You can do it in one color or white, of course, but it is especially effective with the tulips done in varied colors and the leaves in green. You can make a striking cushion of the larger piece or a handsome buffet or chair seat.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LIBERTY UNDER LAW

Golden text: It is good not to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor to do anything whereby thy brother stumbleth. Romans 14:21.

Lessons: Romans 14:13-21. I Corinthians 8:9-13.

Devotional reading: Galatians 5:16-24.

Explanations And Comments

Our Responsibility for Our Brother Romans 14:13. "But thou, why dost thou judge the bretheren?" questions Paul again. "With what art thou set thy brother? for we must all stand before the judgment-seat of God."

"I always feel at perfect liberty to drink wine. Had I only myself to consider, and knowing that my temptation does not lie that way, I might use wine regularly or as often as I felt disposed to enjoy a needed stimulant. But I am quite convinced in my own mind that morally I am not one whit the worse for doing so. But I cannot indulge myself or not without consideration, for often my conduct will have on others. There may be among my friends some who know that their temptation bids them that way, and whose conscience bids them also to do it. If by my example such persons are induced to silence the voice of their own conscience, then I incur the incalculable guilt of helping to destroy a brother for whom Christ died."

Marcus' Words. "Iodine is a shining, blackish-gray powder which needs five times as heavy weight. It has a strong, rather unpleasant odour, and causes the vapours state even at ordinary temperatures. It is quite soluble in alcohol and in water solution of potassium iodide. We are all familiar with iodine in the form of tincture of iodine, which is nothing more or less than iodine crystals dissolved in alcohol. A small quantity of iodine colors starch solution a deep blue and this is an exceedingly delicate test for the element."

Iodine is used in the manufacture of certain dyes and drugs which are very popular. The largest consumer of iodine is the photographic industry which uses the two compounds, silver iodide and potassium iodide, in large quantities. The thyroid gland contains the iodine which is an essential component of the body. A small gland known as the thyroid gland contained in the bunch of cartilage at the front of the throat usually designated as Adam's Apple, produces compound known as thyroxine which contains about 9.3% of iodine. If iodine is not present in the diet the thyroid gland cannot produce this compound and hence goiter results. Iodized salt is produced in table salt, the small amount of sodium iodide being in the salt being considered sufficient to guard against a natural deficiency in the regular food. Iodine is supplied by certain foods, such as spinach, lettuce, string beans, butter, and milk.

The Important and the Unimportant, verses 17-19. For the Kingdom of God, the reign of Christ over men, is not eating and drinking; the important matter is righteousness and peace and joy in the Spirit through his indwelling.

"Religion is love and joy and peace in the Holy Ghost; the cheerfulness thing in the world; it is the most important with which we are associated with our daily life. It is the thing that is not according to the gentiles of Christ Jesus" (John Wesley).

He who serves Christ is his own master. We are to give up all for Christ, for peace and things whereby we may improve one another, that is, let us consider what effect upon others our conduct will have.

Cotton Grows Ten Feet

Farmers In Texas Are Trying Out New Variety

Farmers near Edinburg, Texas, await appearance of a new variety of cotton which is said to attain a height of 10 feet and produce an extra long fibre. It is known as "Aster cotton."

Seedlings already have sprouted, but they have not developed sufficiently to enable farmers to determine the nature of the plant. Approximately 30 farmers have planted acreage in the new variety.

The "Aster" seed is rare and Edinburg growers are under contract to return all seed from the 1935 crop to the original owners.

According to reports, the seed was found in an Indian cave in Colorado. The discoverer planted the seed and was amazed to find that the stalks grew 10 feet tall.

Little Journeys In Science

IODINE

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

Iodine was discovered in 1811 by the French scientist, Berthelot, who obtained it from the mother-liquor of salts produced from burnt seaweed, or kelp. When the liquid was heated sulphuric acid in a jar, a violet vapor arose, which, when condensed in the form of brilliant crystals. Shortly after this discovery the name iodine was proposed for this substance because it comes from the Greek word iodos.

Iodine occurs in sea-water, in sea-plants and sea-animals, and in the thyroid gland of man and of animals. The iodine of iodine of commerce is obtained from a compound called sodium iodide, which is found in small quantity in Chile saltpetre, or crude sodium nitrate.

Iodine is a shining, blackish-gray powder which needs five times as heavy weight. It has a strong, rather unpleasant odour, and causes the vapours state even at ordinary temperatures.

It is quite soluble in alcohol and in water solution of potassium iodide. We are all familiar with iodine in the form of tincture of iodine, which is nothing more or less than iodine crystals dissolved in alcohol. Or course, you and I loathe flies because they are brutes and disgusting, but though we all have an urge to get rid of them, we are not all over careful of preventing their breeding.

All garbage and refuse must be covered, removed, cleaned, rotting leaves kept away from dwellings and all surroundings kept as scrupulously clean as possible. However, there will always be some flies around regardless. Screens on doors and windows will help to keep them out of the house and all exposed food should be kept covered.

A few Wilson's Fly Pads used regularly during the warm weather, indoors or outside, will kill all the flies that happen to get in if used according to directions.

Medical authorities and scientists have found the most effective way to combat fly spreads deadly germs of infantile diarrhoea, the dreaded warm weather complaint that claims the lives of many little children.

Fly bites—deadly menaces and must not be tolerated. A fly will come straight from a heap of filth and settle on food or drink, if the latter is not protected, spreading disease and death right in your own home. Those persons who are very regard for the welfare of their neighbors and community will wage unrelenting war against fly pests and Wilson's Fly Pads will be of invaluable assistance in their efforts.

Nova Scotia Very Scotch

Parliament Is Always Opened By Skirt Of Bagpipes

Nova Scotia, the land of Longfellow's "Evangeline" and popularly believed to be the land of the poem to be largely French and English, is largely Scottish. The opening of Nova Scotia's Parliament is accompanied by the skirt of bagpipes, and several newspapers are printed partly in Gaelic. In the Nova Scotian county of Inverness, 72 per cent. of the inhabitants speak Gaelic, while less than half of the similarly named county in Scotland can speak the ancient tongue—Provincial News Bureau.

Thought Himself Lucky

A Chinese in Calgary upset the usual procedure by failing to frown when the magistrate fined him for traffic violations. "One dollar," said the magistrate. "Thank you. Very cheap," replied New Sing, the Chinaman.

So many think religion is some thing to be argued instead of some thing to be lived.

"That's NOT Mustard, dear!"

There's mustard in it, but for the most part it is flour and turmeric and mustard hulls and colouring matter."

Aunt Louise knows the difference between cheap stuff and the fine mustard grown in the Fen District of England, with all chaff and hulls eliminated, and ground D.S.F.—that means "double superfine". The only way to get the real mustard flavor and true economy is to insist on

SYNOPSIS

Nancy Nelson is a sub-teen, a gay, irresponsible girl in nineteen, who can't seem to choose of her costume for her coming-out party. Suddenly, in the market crash, her indulgent father loses all he has made his family is faced with the necessity of finding a new method of living. At this juncture a letter is received from an eccentric relative in Colorado, who offers the girl a home on what seems to be impossible conditions.

After much consideration Cousin Columbine's offer is accepted, and Nancy and Jack arrive at Pine Ridge. Now Go On With The Story

"Sensible man! All this education business is stuff and nonsense unless it fits a boy to earn his living, which nine times out of ten it doesn't do. Look at Matthew Adam. His people scammed and saved to send him to college. I don't say he got nothing out of it; but here he is back in the Pine Ridge running a dairy ranch! Tell me, child, has your father really lost his money?"

"Most of it, I'm afraid. We're renting the city house and the family will live at Edgemere for the present."

"Where's Edgemere?"

"About twenty-five miles from town. It's Mother's old home, but Aunt Judy owns it. She won't let Dad pay a cent of rent."

"Who's Aunt Judy?"

"I forgot you didn't know all about us," replied the girl. "Aunt Judy is mother's younger sister. She lived with us for years, and took care of us children when we were little."

"And Louise, your father's sister, lives with you too?"

"Yes. She teaches in a very high-hat girls' school!"

"High-hat," echoed Cousin Columbine, plainly mystified.

Nancy laughed, and explained: "That's only slang. Perhaps it's an Eastern variety that hasn't reached Pine Ridge. It means swell, Cousin Columbine — awfully stylish, you know. Aunt Louise is clever. She's earned a good salary for years."

"Well, we'll live to learn," admitted the old lady briskly. "High-hat! It's really expressive when you come to analyze it. So we're three families under the same roof. I should think you'd fight like cats and dogs."

The girl laughed again.

"We don't, honestly; though Aunt Louise thinks Aunt Judy spoils us

(from a distance?" put in Jack. "On horseback?"

"Most of them; but they came in wagons too, or in old-fashioned overland stage coaches drawn by mules. One member tramped over a hundred miles through the mountains, and arrived with a boot on one foot, a brogan on the other, and wearing an old slouch hat he'd slept in with the brim half gone."

"What was he supposed to represent?" Mark Adam asked over his shoulder. "A rummage sale?"

"It doesn't matter," replied Miss Columbine briskly, "because he was elected speaker of the House; and those who heard that speech never forgot it. A fine orator was George Crocker; and he came from Massachusetts, I believe. There was something thrilling about the struggle of those old days which you young folks'll never realize. See those tall cliff over to the right, Jack? That's the entrance to the Garden of the Gods."

"It is!"

In his excitement the boy would have stood up for a better view, but Nancy's bag across his knees prevented him.

"I remember my father bringing me down on horseback when I was a tiny girl," said Cousin Columbine. "I sat astride in front of him and we rode all through the Garden looking for cattle. It was vacant land then, and Father was so impressed with the rock formation that he considered pre-empting it, and then gave up the idea, thinking the land worthless."

"I imagine owning the Garden of the Gods!" gasped Jack. "Has it always gone by that name, I wonder?"

"It has as long as I remember; but the early settlers called the place Red Rocks. No need to encourage a stiff neck; Jack, by trying to see out of the back of your head. We'll all drive down some day and explore the Garden."

If the West had seemed wonderful from a car window, it was thrice wonderful from Mark Adam's dislapped Ford. The young Neasons were never to forget that ride. As they wound up the old Indian pass (a good road now, though narrow enough in spots to cause a shiver to run down Nancy's eastern-bred spine), it would have been impossible to express just what they felt. Such spectacular beauty was next to both of them. Glimpses of rushing water far below—the rocky cliffs and hillsides far above—sharp curves appearing with alarming frequency, and over everything a sky a deep, deep azure such as they had not imagined, was, as Nancy wrote the family later, too wonderful for any words of hers.

"There!" exclaimed Cousin Columbine, when those impressive cliffs were left behind, "that's over safely. Time was when that pass was really dangerous. It's a boulevard now compared with those days. Thank for blowing the horn so often, Mark. I know you did it for my benefit, though my worst enemy never called me nervous. There's Mathew drawn up beside the road. Do you suppose he's had a breakdown? That truck of yours is getting pretty ancient."

"There's plenty o' life in that old truck yet," defended Mark. "All my brother wants, most likely, is for us to get home first so he won't have to describe these—er—newcomers to Aurora Tubbs. Matt says Aurora takes away his power of speech when she alings questions at him. He says it's no wonder Victor Tubbs went into a decline. Hi, there, Matt! Want us to tow you home?"

The older Adam smiled a negative as they passed; and Nancy said:

"Doesn't your brother ever wear a hat?"

"Not so's you'd notice it. Dad says that all Matt learned in college—going bare-headed."

Mark turned to throw a smile at Nancy and barely escaped colliding with a rock.

"Mind your driving," ordered Miss Columbine.

"Yes, ma'am," replied the youth.

and sometimes they scrap about it—that is, as much as any one can scrap with Aunt Judy."

"It's plain to see which is the favorite aunt, my dear!"

"But you mustn't think we don't appreciate Aunt Louise," spoke up Nance quickly. "She's a dear; but Aunt Judy understands us better; and takes our side. If Aunt Louise had her way we'd never in this world have seen Pike's Peak!"

Her eyes crept upward to the snow-capped mountain, and the old lady asked: "Was it worth the journey?"

"It's wonderful! From the train it was the least bit disappointing, perhaps because we were so far away; but here it's marvelous and—so near!"

"That's only the atmosphere. Will you believe it, tourists here in Colorado Springs have been known to start out before breakfast thinking they could walk to the base and get back in an hour! Everything looks nearer than it is—ever the stars. But I like the Peak better from our side, my dear, and I think you will. Where are those boys. They're certainly taking their time. So your Aunt Louise opposed your coming? Will you explain why?"

Nance colored a little, something which did not escape the shrewd old eyes.

"She—well, she said Jack was too impulsive, I guess she thought work on a ranch—going round all day with rough men and boys—would spoil his manners."

Cousin Columbine stiffened.

"Did she indeed? And what about yourself?"

These frank cross-questions were disconcerting; but the girl said hotly: "She thought I'd be homesick, and I dare say she's right; but Mother pointed out, things wouldn't be very thrilling at Edgemere. You see, I've always spent winters in the city; and this . . ."

"Well?" prodded the old lady, as she paused.

"I only meant," Nance hesitated, thinking it might sound foolish to an inhabitant of Pine Ridge, Colorado, "that if Dad hadn't lost his money I'd have made my debut this winter."

"Well, his losses saved you from that, anyway," was the brusque reply. "Here come the boys at last. Mark Adam, did you can those peaches yourself? You've been gone long enough."

"Not only canned, but pickled," he reported. "Why didn't you let Matt eat this stuff, Miss Columbine? I'll have to tie it on the running board."

"You'll do no such thing! Put it right in here and I'll set my feet on it! There! I'm comfortable as ever. Be truth is, I intended asking Matt to get this box, but it slipped my mind when I saw he was in such a hurry to get away from us. Did you boys have a soda at the drug-store? You must have been some-where this twenty minutes?"

"It was only polite for me to give your company a treat, Miss Columbine," explained Mark as he started the engine. "What next? Do we believe, to get this box, but it slipped my mind when I saw he was in such a hurry to get away from us. Did you boys have a soda at the drug-store?
